MURPHY

WAR OF THE WORLDS--A hugely entertaining, explosion-loaded sci-fi tale that's as good as any ever made. Alien creatures that look like Hermit the frog on steroids. Nasty death-ray tripod space ships vaporizing everything in their paths, and sound effects that send chills up your spine. And the best part was, Tom Cruise didn't mention his new girl friend or scientology once during the whole movie. Thanks Tom. ★★☆☆

FANTASTIC FOUR--If you are still into comic books and just love to see super heroes that can stretch like rubber, set themselves on fire without cooking, become invisible, and turn into, literally, a rock star, then have I got a movie for you. I don't know what the filmmakers were shooting for, but they missed. If you thought Malcolm In The Middle has a dysfunctional family, wait until you see this one. ★

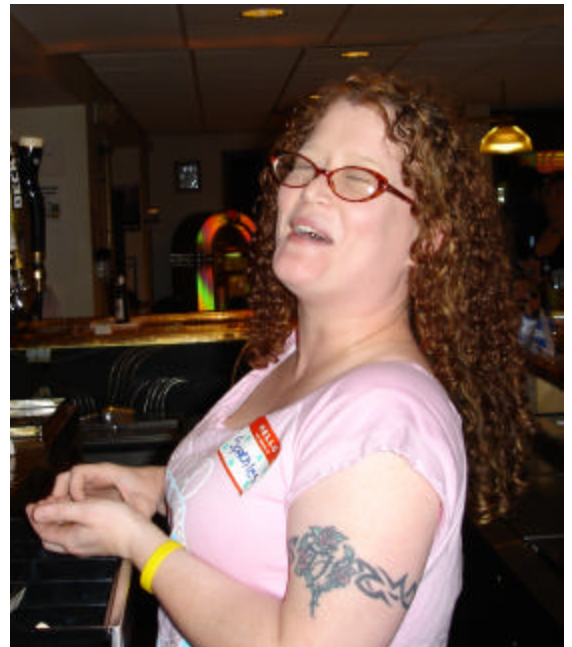

MARCH OF THE PENGUINS--A thrilling, suspense-filled documentary that could never be duplicated by any damn computer cartoon movie. These flesh and blood bird heroes capture your hearts from beginning to end. An astonishing cinematic film that captures nature at its breathtaking best. ★★☆☆

Lindsey, you are having just way too much fun! Who nick-named you Sparkles by the way?

(One of the best bartenders, in case you haven't met her yet)

Our Exalted Ruler Sandy did make it back from Reno in time to get into the fun with others at the fish fry. Were you trying to get into or out of the shot Sandy?
