SANDY

Well, Murph, I am back from Reno and headed for the movies

Wedding Crashers --Once you get beyond the point that the story line is stupid, the movie is funny. Two single guys do nothing for fun except crash weddings, until the day that they both fall in love with two sisters. Of course, the Mother of the girls wants them, so does the, gay, funny looking kid brother, while the Grandma tries to kill them both. Let me add here that there were four of us who went and saw this movie and the other three people really enjoyed it, while I gave it ★ ★ ↓.

Charlie and the Chocolate Factory--STRANGE!!!!!! I love Johnny Depp, but he was really weird in this movie. And the chocolate factory looked more like Dracula's castle instead of a chocolate factory. And Charlie was mean! I guess this is a "Willie Wonka" gone mad version. And further more, I didn't even like the chocolate candy bars! ★ ★

Dukes of Hazzard--Jessica Simpson is the only reason this movie came off of a shelf in Hollywood and landed on the big screen. She is hot, and when she sings "These boots are made for walking", I could hear every man's heart beat a little faster in the theater. I never really cared much for the T V series, so if you did, this movie would almost be tolerable. Just a bunch of "hillbillies" driving around in old cars. ★ ★

MURPHY

STEALTH--A slick, ridiculous movie about what happens when yet another robot (this time a super-stealth airplane) runs amok. It does manage to hold your attention, much like a video game does, but in the end the silly script does it in. If you love to watch airplanes fly, you just might like this film. ★

FOUR BROTHERS-- The fun with this film is the interplay among the four brothers, that is very entertaining and funny. Murder, violent revenge, and great choreographed action scenes make this a good watch. Although it has its flaws, it's still worth the money. ★ ★

SKY HIGH--I don't know what age group this film was aiming for, but it really is for anyone who likes comic book heroes and funky special effects. It's loaded with wit and wackiness. A very clever film in a dumb sort of way. ★ ★

Elks Carolyn and Ken Brode and Darin Lamphier at this year's Woodward Dream Cruise

I know plenty of you were at this year's event. What was the highlight for you?

Even some mini Elk were enjoying the sights and sounds of those hot-rods.
